Developing Functional High-Quality IEPs
for PreK Children

Welcome to Developing Functional High Quality IEP Goals for PreK Children. This series of modules is intended for use by professionals such as teachers, caregivers, providers and practitioners as well as families working with young children with Individual Education Programs (IEP's) in preschool environments and the home. Instructions for navigating each of the modules are provided. The modules are self-directed and can be completed by individuals or groups. Specific learner objectives related to the modules are included at the beginning of each module. All handouts and resources, including activities and quizzes, are provided within the module and can be downloaded by the user. A certificate of completion can be printed out as proof of successful completion at the end of each module.

“Face-to-face” train-the-trainer modules with emphasis on emotional-social development

“Online” modules with emphasis on emotional-social development for the child care and early education community

Work Groups

- Advisory Council
- Family Engagement
- Teacher Licensure
- PD/Implementation
- Early Childhood Mental Health

What we asked them to do

‘We need stakeholder expertise and input to adapt the modules to the online format.

- Content
- Function

We want the Advanced Online Course in Foundations to meet the needs of the people who will use it.’

Tasks

- Review content
 - Absent
 - Erroneous
 - Extraneous
 - Pre- and Post-learning activities to nest around content
 - Unclear
- Review function
 - Audio and video quality
 - Do the links work?
 - Do the right attachments appear?
- Feedback
 - Edit documents directly
 - Send additional materials

The review process

- 1st round:
 - NC Early Learning Network prepares and sends modules
 - Workgroup members review/react/revise/respond
 - 3 weeks elapse – comments due back to ELN and next set of modules prepared and sent
- 2nd round:
 - Edits from 1st round of all 4 workgroups incorporated in Modules Reviews of 2nd round completed
- Final meeting to review and make final suggestions
- Final production

Slide 1

Welcome to today's session on promoting positive relationships. Take just a few seconds and recall a relationship in your life that has been positive. What makes a relationship positive? What were the characteristics of the relationship that made it positive? Write down your responses on a sheet of paper.

(Participants will need to pause the online module when working on this)

Now think about a relationship that was not positive for you. What were the characteristics of the relationship that kept it from being positive? Write down your responses on a sheet of paper.

(Participants will need to pause the online module when working on this)

What is the difference in the two lists?

Let's take the opportunity to look at how important positive relationships (adult to child, child to child, and adult to adult) are to the development of our youngest learners. Let's discover how we can achieve nurturing and responsive relationships for all parties within the child care and early education environment.

(NOTE: We will need to come up with consistent language – child care and early education environment?)

Slide 2

'The most important dimension of the environment that influences how children develop competencies is the quality of the relationships that they have with important people in their lives.' This is a quote from Dr. Jack Shonkoff who wrote From Neurons to Neighborhoods: The Science of Early Childhood Development in 2000 and who continues to study how children's brains

Where we are in the process

- The first seven modules are converted!
- Stakeholder meeting to be held this Friday with workgroup members and additional invitees
- We got additional funding to develop Early Childhood Mental Health modules!

What we are learning

- Need support materials to help various programs use the modules
- PD to improve social skills and reduce challenging behaviors can be a protective factor for
 - Reducing suspension and expulsion from early childhood programs and
 - Preventing dropout

Exciting things are happening!

- Cross-sector participation in professional development activities
- Hearing voices we may not have heard without this funding!
- The mental health connection
- Policy implications

Let's take a look at a draft module!
